

THE NATIONAL TRIBUNE.

(ESTABLISHED 1872.)

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR.

INvariably in Advance.

McLARDY, SNODGRASS &amp; ANDREWS, Proprietors.

ENTERED AT WASHINGTON POSTOFFICE AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., JULY 10, 1902.

Office: 339 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W.

EVERYBODY now feels called upon to give the Democratic party advice, forgetful of how plentifully it has had it in the past, and how it has acted in spite of it.

ABUNDANT GENERAL CORBIN figures out that Uncle Sam has 10,845,238 men available for military duty. Now, other countries had better be good.

AGUINALDO is afraid of assassination at home, and wants to come to this country. This is a very good commentary on the condition of things there, which the Americans are trying to remedy. Bring him over, by all means, and simply turn him loose. He is no longer of the least consequence, but he would learn very much by simply wandering at will around this country, and learning for himself how Americans live, think and act.

WHEN the "favorite son" of a State begins to go down, everybody seems to want to kick him along. Two years ago Senator James K. Jones seemed to hold the State of Arkansas in the hollow of his hand, and he was the official pilot of the great Democratic party. He was defeated for reelection as Senator, and deposed from his Chairmanship, and now the Governor of the State energetically protests against his being carried off in that hospital for diseased and debilitated politicians—membership of a Commission.

PERHAPS the most overwhelming surprise and disappointment was that which came to an Arkansas gentleman who, having conceived a dislike of a neighbor, stuck a stick of dynamite in his pocket and started out to blow him up, house, family and all. The other gentleman seems to have been a marksman of the old type. He got out his rifle and fired at the would-be bombardier. The bullet happened to strike the dynamite pocket, and the neighbors in various parts of the county are being in the morning with such bits of her late lamented husband as they come across.

THE physicians have announced that the King of England is out of danger, and there is the profoundest wish that their predictions may be verified, not merely in extending Edward VII's life, but for the cause of science and humanity. If he definitely recovers, it will be a demonstration of an immense and real advance in the knowledge and treatment of the exceedingly dangerous troubles of the abdominal region. It will give such hope and confidence to other sufferers as may prolong their lives by carrying them successfully through similar operations.

IT seems to have been a very business-like session. The House sat 150 days, and adjourned for 33. During that time 15,363 bills were introduced, or more than in both sessions of any previous Congress. Of these 2,517 were reported and 1,331 passed. Of the 1,484 laws passed, which were approved by the President, 913 originated in the House, and 571 in the Senate; of these 1,484 laws 299 were public, and 1,185 private. Of the 229 public laws, 156 originated in the House and 143 in the Senate. Of the 1,185 private laws, 775 originated in the House and 410 in the Senate.

THE pressure of public opinion is such that we may look for a beginning to be made on the Panama Canal soon after New Year's. The first thing to do is to examine the title, and quiet any French claims. The next thing—and that is going on now—is to negotiate a satisfactory treaty with the United States of Colombia. This, of course, cannot be ratified until Congress meets in December, but there are strong hopes that the treaty will be such as to meet immediate approval. The next will be the appointment and confirmation of a Canal Commission, and we can trust the politicians to see that there is no delay in that direction.

THE Germans have pushed the potato production to a point not imagined in this country. In the potato they have the greatest amount of food for man or beast that a given area of soil can raise, and they are raising unheard-of amounts to the acre. About 40 per cent. of their potatoes are used for feeding cattle, and now they are exerting themselves to find a way of making potatoes last all the year round for feeding purposes, and reduce the cost of transportation. As 3 1/2 tons of potatoes can be reduced to one ton by drying, and will then keep indefinitely, a good and efficient method of drying would be a great boon to farmers, and prizes are offered for such a process.

THE Georgians are in a predicament as to the selection of statues for Statuary Hall, in the National Capitol, to represent the two greatest Georgians. They have made one sensible selection in Dr. Crawford W. Long, one of the discoverers of anesthesia. They are hesitating now among Gen. John B. Gordon, Alex. H. Stephens, and Robert Toombs. Statuary Hall, from the ridiculousness of the selections from the various States, and the artistic badness of the work, has become more of a laughing-stock than the New York University's Hall of Fame, after its selection of Robert E. Lee as an American who had rendered conspicuous service to America. So it is not of extreme importance when Georgia shall select as the best products of her nearly two centuries of existence.

THE British West Indies are suffering intensely from the same cause which prostrates Cuba—the cheapness of bounty-fed beet sugar. Germany, France and Austria continue to make sugar very high for their own people, in order to sell it very cheap to outsiders. As Great Britain and the United States are the great sugar-eaters of the world, nearly all of the benefit goes to them. Germany and France try to even up by making a market for other goods in those countries, Jamaica and the other possessions in the Indies want Great Britain to put such a tariff on beet sugar as will enable their product to compete with it, and insist that universal bankruptcy will result from the refusal. Great Britain naturally does not want to increase the price of sugar to her own people, nor does she want to interfere with her profitable commerce with Germany and France.

COMMISSIONER WARE'S POLICY.

The only public utterance Commissioner Ware has given in regard to his policy was at a reception tendered him at Topeka, Kan., by his old comrades. In response to the welcoming address Capt. Ware said:

"When I was first appointed Pension Commissioner I was followed by newspaper reporters from every paper that could get at me, asking me to announce my policy in the pension agency. I said, 'I haven't announced my policy, and I'll let you judge what it is by watching.' In fact, I do not expect to announce my policy. The people will have to judge what it is by what happens. There are the statistics of Congress upon the affairs and duties of the Pension Department. That law will be followed implicitly. When a matter comes up in which there is an equity which the voice of the law do not reach, I take charge of that myself."

"When I went to Washington, President Roosevelt told me he wanted me to go down and take charge of the Pension Office right off. I told him I was willing to do it, but I did not know whether or not I should go. The President said, 'I probably wouldn't like it if I went in, and I'd like it less and less the longer I stayed.'"

"On my first day in the office I held a big reception and shook hands with everybody in the Pension Office. There are more people there than there are on Kansas Avenue, from the river to the fairgrounds. I took the first half a day to meet them all, and when I got through my arm was about loosened from my shoulder."

"The Commissioner then proceeded to describe the routine process through which a claim must go. The accuracy and thoroughness of this showed that he had at once applied himself to careful study of the workings of his office, and had comprehended them with a swift, masterful intelligence."

In conclusion he said: "I feel that it is as much a matter of duty and justice to adjudicate a claim promptly as to adjudicate it according to law, and I propose to do it that way or quit the job."

"There are different ways of running an office. One way is to run it so as to get around it. I am not going to run this one that way. I am going to have the laws of Congress strictly and absolutely carried out. I will look after the equity, in order to run the office I have got to have the sympathy, good will and support of all good thinking people in the country. I haven't expressed my policy. I simply want to fill the office to the satisfaction of the old soldiers and the people."

FIRING THE TEXAN REBEL.

Senator Bailey has now really something to get mad about, and if his temper is nearly as inflammable as he pretends, he should be a regular devouring cyclone of wrath.

It will be remembered that he became uncontrollably angry merely because Senator Beveridge pronounced his attack "unwarranted." Now comes Judge Penfield, Solicitor of the State Department, and he tells the Senator plainly and flatly that he lies, and knew at the time that he was lying. Judge Penfield's statement of the cause of the trouble is as follows:

"A judgment was recovered by Biedenbergh against Scott in one of the Mexican courts. Scott took the case to the Supreme Court of Mexico, where it is still pending. Dr. Scott and his attorney, supported by Senator Bailey, requested the laws of Congress strictly and absolutely carried out. I will look after the equity, in order to run the office I have got to have the sympathy, good will and support of all good thinking people in the country. I haven't expressed my policy. I simply want to fill the office to the satisfaction of the old soldiers and the people."
